Christmas Highlights

The glow of Christmas lights are a delight to the eye of those who walk or ride through the towns at night. This 15 foot tree atop the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kjeld Jensen is a major attraction of the village of Mattapoisett. The tree, ablaze with colored lights, stands high against the black sky and can be seen for blocks. Just down the street, the long wharf has a beautiful tree of lights which is echoed by the glowing tree across the harbor at Mattapoisett Boatyard. Individual homes throughout Mattapoisett, Marion and Rochester have decorated doors, floodlit fronts and yard decorations. The home lights, wreaths, sprays and door decorations are very varied and beautiful throughout the area. The Congregational Church lighting is so simple and so effective as a focal point for the center of Mattapoisett.

The Mattapoisett Lions Club promoted a door decoration contest as an added incentive for Christmas decorations. Thirty-five entries were registered and of these the judges: Mrs. A. Lincoln Muggleton, Mrs. Russell Knowles and Mrs. Charles Provonchee of the Rehoboth Garden Club, selected the following winners: Mrs. Lois Donninger, 33 Main Street, first; Bernard Talty, Edgewood Lane, second; Tom Clark, West Hill, third; and honorable mention, Glenn Sturgeon, Main Street; Anthony J. DuPont, Jr., West Hill; Lloyd Baker, Long Plain Road; and Lauren C. Keene, Channing Road.

The Lions Club was very pleased with the enthusiasm generated by the residents of the town in the contest.

Twinkling color against the night sky makes a merry greeting to visitors to the Mattapoisett waterfront. This is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kjeld Jensen on Water Street. Mr. Jensen's 15-foot sentinel is the result of some heroic acrobatics required to boost the heavy tree to its lofty perch. I'm sure that all who enjoy the tree heartily agree that the effort is appreciated.

The Lions Committee was comprised of "Jiggs" Broadwater, David Furtney and Philip Murray. Photos on page 18.

FELLOWSHIP IN COMEDY

The rare character trait that makes man an individual was explored in an amusing play at the Mattapoisett Congregational Church on Friday, December 17th. The Senior Fellowship of the church performed excellently in this production of "The Boy Who Changed the World", whose thesis is that the role of the non-conformist has been difficult from the beginning of man's time on the earth, particularly timely in this present period when conformity in dress and grooming is inflexible to the extreme. This play message, in a light way but with absolute accuracy, is that all advances in the history of man emerge from the brain of the rare individual who is willing to break out of the herd and think alone. Since the rigid conformity of contemporary style dictates masses of shoulder length hair, most of the actors had half of the costume problem solved. For the balance of the wardrobe, the young people did some great work with man made furs in keeping with the caveman period of the play. The staging was very effective with a cave suggestion overlooking a landscape of vast space and snow capped mountains.

In the role of the young non-conformist, Jim Holt played the title role of the student who was failing at clubbing, clobbering, climbing, wrestling and the other caveman arts, but free thinking in the category of the arts and invention. Jeff Dunn and Sally Jones played the misfit's parents and were excellent as was Rick Helfand as the professor. Kim Almeida was sexy in the role of the new provocative girl in town Dorothy. Others in the cast included Merry Lynn Stephen as Mozelle; Scott Atkinson as Irving the Great Nose; John Hinman as Ralph the Fast Runner; Mark Roberts, Mark Harris and Ben Dunn, three teenage boys; and Harlene Fearing, Jayne Morris, Valerie Putman, Tom Luiz, Don Betts and Kathy Wooley.

The play was well done and contains a basic truth which is applicable in any society in any age. It simply takes a bit of growing up to firm the strength of character needed to stand alone. The play was under the direction of the Fellowship's advisors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Dunn.

MRS. MORGADO DIES

Mrs. Anna Morgado, born in St. Michael Azores and one of Mattapoisett's oldest residents, died quietly at her home at 7 Driscoll Lane on December 15th. Mrs. Morgado lived in the same home since she arrived in Mattapoisett 80 years ago. She is the widow of Joseph Morgado who died 50 years ago. Mrs. Morgado received a birthday card from President Nixon on her 94th birthday this year. She lived, on her own, surrounded by the love and care of her children who are also residents of the town. On Wednesday, she complained of being tired, and lay down and passed away while taking a nap.

Mrs. Charles Smith read the invocation followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to our Flag.

After the secretary's and treasurer's reports were read, Mrs. Philip Murray gave an account of the Fall Federation meeting at Tabor Academy. She also informed the club members that, at this time, $5,614. has been donated from clubs all over the State to Mrs. Marshall W. Ross's President's Fund. Mrs. Murray reminded the women that Club Institute will be held in Boston on January 6th and also that it is not too early to make reservations for the Annual Convention which will be held in Falmouth next May.

A very informative report on the Girls' State meeting, held last June, was given by Linda Marcoux and Elizabeth Kunces.

A moment of silence was observed for Mrs. Elson Mellor who recently passed away. A donation was made to the Heart Fund in her memory.

It was then voted by the club to make donations to several Federation Scholarship Funds including Art, Drama, Litera-

Magazine Salesmen

MAGAZINE CREWS WORKING AREA

Out of town magazine salesmen are in the area at present and will be working here for about a month.

If homeowners are bothered or misled by these salesmen, the solicitor may be in violation of the Consumer Protection Act. In the past, teams have used a sales pitch which features a "point system" for some vague college goal. Also, in the past some crews have been abusive when faced with a refusal. Both of these things are forbidden under the new law which requires the seller to use truth in selling and which protects the homeowner from abuse.

Should any resident have a complaint about any door-to-door solicitor, he should contact the New Bedford Chamber of Commerce and they have the knowledge and materials necessary to act against any violation of the law. The number to call is 999-5231.

The salesmen are also registered in the town police department which is immediately ready to aid the resident.

EASY TO MAKE HOLIDAY DECORATIONS

The holidays right around the corner? Then here's some food for thought. This year you can make the holidays come alive in a very special way by assembling these new easy-to-make decorations that you and your family will enjoy creating. Right from your local food store, you can make pretty holiday decorations inexpensively, simply and quickly, out of polystyrene foam trays on which poultry, fish, meat or produce are packaged.

Gather the children around the kitchen table, play carols on the stereo, and see that each person has something specific to do.

Interested in making a Santa Claus cut-out? All you need are polystyrene foam trays, black and red felt markers, red velvet ribbon or red-flocked crepe paper and gold cord.

First, trace a Santa Claus, reindeer, Christmas bell or star onto the foam tray. Cut it out with scissors or a single edge razor blade. Next paste on velvet to complete effect and use black or red marker to emphasize outline. Use these Christmas cutouts on packages, for tree ornaments, window decorations or party favors.

Small children can draw pictures on trays. Give a pre-schooler a box of crayons and he will go right to work. The turned up edge of a tray makes a natural frame. Wrap finished work as a gift for grandmother.

When you think of holiday gifts, think of Formpac's foam trays. When shipping

DAR HAS CHRISTMAS MEETING

An exchange of Christmas gifts took place during the December meeting of the Fort Phoenix Chapter DAR at the First Baptist Church on December 8th, followed by an eggnog party with goodies made by Mrs. Harriet Krumholtz from German recipes handed down in her family.

During the meeting which preceded, a memorial service was held for Mrs. Wendell Eldredge, conducted by Mrs. Elbridge Shaw, chaplain. Mrs. Joseph Nowak, president, and the vice-regent, Mrs. Scott Watts, read the Christmas story according to St.

ROCHESTER CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

The annual Christmas Eve Candlelight service at the First Congregational Church, Rochester Center, will be presented at 11 P.M. on December 24th. Under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Edward F. White, each year finds a different theme.

This year, Tyler Brown will portray Micheas, the Prophet. Scott Pare will play the part of the Innkeeper. Other members of the parish will assist the pastor by not being seen but lending only their voices to the unusual production. "Imagination is a powerful gift," said Mr. White, "and here we will give everyone a chance to use this gift as we re-enact the 'First Christmas'".

The Junior and Senior Choirs will present special music under the direction of Mrs. William Warburton, organist. The public is invited.

GRANGE HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Mattapoisett Grange held an open meeting last Thursday night with the worthy master Mark Breton presiding.

A Christmas party was held for the members of the Junior Grange. It started with carol singing followed by a peanut hunt. Winners were Nelson Hiller for the boys and Karen Barrows for the girls , and Ollie Gifford and William Smith for the adults. Passing a Christmas stocking filled with small gifts was played. The one holding the stocking at the times the music stopped took a gift out. The last player got to keep the stocking. This was also played separately by the adults.

In the absence of the worthy Junior Master Harlene Fearing, Phillip Barrows, overseer presented the worthy master Mark Breton a Christmas gift for the subordinate Grange.

Phillip then presented Mr. Medeiros who conducted a group of four boys playing

Gift-Giving

GIFT-GIVING AROUND THE WORLD

Admire a picture on a Russian's wall--and he may take it down and give it to you! And pity the poor Fiji Islander -- at certain times of the year, he must give a neighbor anything the man asks for.

Among primitive New Guinea residents, where fishing is all-important, a gift of netting catches compliments, while in America you can give socks, ties, even an electric toothbrush and still net yourself hearty thanks.

The official patron saint of generosity, "St. Nick", is based on the real-life Saint Nicholas, bishop of Myra in Turkey in the 4th century. Legendary even in his own time for his generosity, he is said to have gone on many a mysterious journey carrying secret gifts to the poor. On one of these expeditions, so the story goes, he dropped a bag of gold down a chimney. It fell by accident into a stocking hung up to dry by the fire -- and prompted generations of hopeful children to hang up theirs as well. Generous as this may be, it can't hold a candle to the gifts of Mongolian tribesmen. Believing that any male stranger who wanders into their camp may be a god in disguise, they not only give him anything he wants -- they parade before him all their worldly goods, inviting him to choose whatever he desires.

Christmas, the season of love and charity, has always fostered giving to the poor. In England, on the day after Christmas, clergymen used to open the church alms-boxes of money of that day to people who had worked for them during the year. December 26 is still known as Boxing Day in Britain.

For unusual gifts, take note of the barrels and barrels of fish given to churches by Newfoundland fishermen on Christmas Day.

The Halloween custom of "trick or treat" dates back to a medieval English custom called "going a-souling". According to the distributors of Mateus Rose from Portugal, the most popular imported wine in the United States, men and women went from house to house chanting, "A soul cake, a soul cake/ A penny or a soul cake." The ladies leaned from their kitchen windows to give little pastries; in return for the gifts, the people said prayers for souls of the departed relatives of the housewives.

Lords and princes of the Middle Ages gave saddles, swords and horses to their faithful knights, while noble ladies gave their men kerchiefs to affix to their lances or helmet -- in the hopes that the banners would bring good luck.

Queen Elizabeth of England, during the 1600s, fostered the custom of Christmas gift giving by requiring her courtiers to deliver presents before the throne. Woe betide those who didn't produce! To forestall her royal wrath, one archbishop gave her $200 every Yule to replenish her wardrobe. Court ladies presented her with the first silk stockings made in Europe.

One distinctly American gift growing in popularity today is a bottle of I. W. Harper Bourbon. It is receiving a warm reception this time of the year and is especially appreciated by hosts who invite guests to their homes.

Returning to relative antiquity, in prewar China, aged parents received birthday gifts of "longevity robes" from their dutiful children, who revered old age. Thinking in more earthly terms, Charlemagne, 8th century emperor of France, gave his generals all the land they could walk around from sunup to sundown.

Perhaps because he thought generosity was a jewel of a trait, Emperor Nero of Rome used to throw parties during which gems would be showered upon the guests from special baskets on the ceiling.

Most insistent on giving? Perhaps the Berbers of North Africa take this award. Since the dawn of time, they have believed that milk is "full of holiness". For that reason, most nomad Arabs in Africa will urge a traveler to help himself to a drink of milk. But if the traveler offers to buy it from they, they fly into

The PX WHERE OUR BUSINESS DEPENDS ON YOURS — AND WE KNOW IT!

Just to say "Merry Christmas" could never do
As a greeting for patrons as great as all you.
We're young and learning, as all infants do,
And for progress we've made, again we thank you.
We hope that your Christmas brings laughter and cheer,
'Cause that's what we've found in our short time here.
So we send you a greeting, we'll never forget,
It's a "Thank You" for being the best people yet!

HOLIDAY HINTS

Foil pans from frozen pie and cake packages make great reflectors for Christmas lights. Just cut a hole through the center of each pan — and screw the lights through them . . . into their sockets.

For a safer and merrier Christmas, be sure the toys you buy for your children are hazard-free. Toys requiring alcohol, kerosene, gasoline or carbide lamps are extremely dangerous when placed in young hands.

To keep your Christmas tree looking fresher, longer (a) wait until just before the holiday to install it; (b) place it in a cool room, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces; (c) make sure it's always standing in water to retard drying.

Give yourself a Christmas gift of at least an hour a day of pure rest and relaxation. You owe it to yourself to feel tops at the peak of the season!
